(In open court; case called)

MR. BLAIS: Good afternoon, your Honor. Brian Blais for the government.

MR. STRAZZULLO: Good afternoon, your Honor. Sal Strazzullo on behalf of Mr. Gelman. Good afternoon again.

THE COURT: Good afternoon. You're with?

MR. STRAZZULLO: I am with Anthony Rizzo. He is an intern at my law firm, second year student at Boston Law School, your Honor.

THE COURT: Thank you.

So we have an application for bail. I have a submission filed on April 2 in support of this bail application. There were three defendants charged I believe in connection with this investigation, each of whom pled guilty and received sentences of 57, 37, and 46 months in prison. I'm saying this so if I have anything wrong counsel will feel free to correct me.

I'd be interested in a description from the government about the sources of evidence that you will -- well, you expect to offer at trial. The trial is scheduled for May 22.

MR. BLAIS: Yes, your Honor. Just to clarify the record. In addition to the three defendants that your Honor noted from the matter that was in front of your Honor, there was a related case, docket number 10 CR 31 I believe, in front of Judge Stein that had an additional four defendants. All

E449GELC

1 four of those defendants pled guilty. Sitting here today I 2 don't know the exact sentences that they were sentenced to.
3 The range is similar in range to the sentences that were 4 imposed in this matter. But that was a related case stemming 5 from the same set of facts, from the same operation of A.R.
6 Capital. So I did want to inform your Honor of that as well.

7 In terms of the evidence that the government would 8 intend to offer at trial, there would first be testimony from 9 cooperating witnesses. The number of cooperating witnesses is 10 still a bit up in the air. I think it would be at least two, 11 potentially as many as four cooperating witnesses who had 12 various roles either at A.R. Capital or at related entities and 13 that were aware of operations at the particular entity in 14 question.

15 Two would be testimony from what I will call victim 16 witnesses, individuals who invested money at A.R. Capital with 17 a particular understanding and then lost money as a result of 18 the operations of that entity. Again, I can't quantify an 19 exact number. We're still in the process of identifying, 20 reaching out to those various victim witnesses but there were,
21 I believe, if your Honor reviews the restitution orders in this 22 case, in the largest restitution order there were I believe 162 23 identified victims. So there's certainly a large pool of 24 victims which we could potentially tap into.

25 Third, would be what I would classify as documentary

E449GELC

1 evidence: The offering memorandum that was issued in 2 connection with A.R. Capital that described the investing 3 philosophy and mechanism that would be used, which is obviously 4 the vehicle that contains what the government alleges to be 5 significant misrepresentations about what, in fact, occurred at 6 A.R. Capital.

7 Then there would be associated records including 8 customer records, bank records, that would corroborate the 9 activity that took place at A.R. Capital. That's essentially 10 the range of the government's evidence at trial.

11 THE COURT: What do you expect that evidence would 12 show in terms of the defendant's role in the scheme and his 13 knowledge?

14 MR. BLAIS: Yes.

15 We expect that the evidence would show that this 16 particular defendant is what I would classify as an account 17 executive. So he was essentially a salesperson at this 18 particular firm. It was not the president of the firm or 19 anything of that nature, but was an account executive whose 20 responsibility it was to contact potential customers and get 21 them to part with their money, to invest in this particular 22 entity which purported to be a hedge fund that made certain 23 kinds of investments that it did not, in fact, make. So his 24 role was essentially as one of the frontline sales people who 25 had the customer contact. I believe the complaint in this

E449GELC

1 matter alleges that there was a particular victim that met
2 directly with this defendant in New York. That individual 3 ultimately parted with upwards of $7 million in connection with 4 this particular scheme. So I think that's broadly what the 5 evidence would show with respect to this defendant's particular 6 role in the scheme.

7 THE COURT: I believe the defendants in the case 8 before Judge Stein, I think there were four of them, two of 9 them received a term of imprisonment of 87 months and two 10 received a term of imprisonment of 63 months. My deputy just 11 pulled this off the docket sheet. Obviously if counsel have 12 different information they'll share.

13 MR. BLAIS: That is in line with our understanding.
14 That, in fact, would suggest that the sentences in that matter
15 were actually higher than the sentences -- so I apologize if I 16 in anyway I didn't recall the specific sentences, but I knew 17 they were broadly in the same range.

18 THE COURT: What would the government suggest the 19 evidence at trial will show as to the length of the defendant's 20 association with this scheme?

21 MR. BLAIS: It's my understanding that it would show 22 that he was associated with the scheme for essentially the 23 entire period that was charged in the indictment, which if I 24 recall is approximately some period in 2002 to some period in 25 2006. I do believe he ended his association with the scheme at

E449GELC

1 some time prior to the end of the conspiracy, but it was 2 relatively close to the endpoint of that conspiracy. So he was 3 not associated for the full period but it was almost the entire 4 period.

5 THE COURT: Thank you.

6 So this is your application, Mr. Strazzullo. I just 7 wanted to get those questions answered to give us some context
8 as I hear your application.

9 MR. STRAZZULLO: Yes, your Honor.

10 Your Honor as you can see my client has very strong 11 community ties. In the audience today you have family, 12 friends, mother, wife, cousins, all here showing the community 13 ties that Mr. Gelman does have.

14 In addition, your Honor, Mr. Gelman has never been in 15 trouble before, has no criminal record whatsoever.

16 In regards to his surrender, your Honor, it was 17 voluntary. When he did hear of the complaint against him and 18 the indictment he was already in the Ukraine. For the last two 19 years, your Honor, I've been in negotiations with Mr. Goldman 20 in regards to getting him here surrendered. There were some 21 problems regarding his passport being expired, getting to Kiev 22 to get the paperwork and the travel documents to the United 23 States. In addition, your Honor, basically he has very, very 24 strong community ties.

25 His grandmother at this time is sick. He has a

E449GELC

1 14-year-old son and he couldn't be here today, your Honor, 2 because he's on a school trip.

3 The potential plea, your Honor, in this case that we 4 are discussing with the government is 46 to 57 months. To 5 note, your Honor, before this potential plea and while he 6 voluntarily surrendered, there was a plea on the table of 57 to 7 71 months, while he voluntarily surrendered. And now the 8 potential plea that I'm in negotiations with the United States
9 Attorney's Office is 46 to 57. So even after he voluntarily 10 surrendered, your Honor, the plea offer has gotten better, of 11 course, with the consent of you, Judge.

12 The bail --

13 THE COURT: No. No. I don't -- I think you're 14 referring to a guideline stipulation. I have no role in that 15 whatsoever.

16 MR. STRAZZULLO: Exactly, your Honor. Just at 17 sentencing of course it's your determination.

18 The properties that are being put up by his family, 19 your Honor, is a two million dollar unsecured bond, but two 20 properties secured. One is a four hundred thousand dollar home 21 and the other is a three hundred thousand dollar home. Both 22 owned by his aunt and a dear family friend.

23 Your Honor, I believe that this bail package in 24 addition with conditions and combination of conditions to 25 secure Mr. Gelman's appearance at every court date here is

1 substantial enough to have him released on bail pending trial.

2 Thank you, your Honor.

3 THE COURT: Thank you. And the equity in those two 4 homes?

5 MR. STRAZZULLO: Unencumbered, your Honor.

6 THE COURT: Thank you.

7 Anything else you want to say?

8 MR. STRAZZULLO: No, your Honor.

9 THE COURT: So, I think -- and Mr. Strazzullo you've 10 been very frank throughout with respect to the defendant 11 knowing of this investigation, learning of it while he was 12 abroad, staying abroad, and then more recently over this last 13 two-year period being in touch with you and using your services 14 to talk with the government. And I appreciate that.

15 So the arrest in this case happened when?

16 MR. BLAIS: This particular defendant's arrest, your 17 Honor?

18 THE COURT: No. The investigation.

19 MR. BLAIS: The investigation. I believe that the 20 arrests were in April of 2009. Certainly the complaint I 21 believe was unsealed on April 30. I don't know whether the 22 arrests were a day or so after. So it may potentially have 23 been in May, but it was in that timeframe in 2009.

24 THE COURT: So from 2009 to 2012 the defendant
25 remained in the Ukraine with no effort to return. In 2012,

E449GELC

1 roughly he got in touch with you, Mr. Strazzullo, and you've 2 been in negotiations with the government since that time for 3 his return. It's my understanding as a policy matter the 4 government doesn't really negotiate until a defendant comes 5 back, am I right? So the defendant had to return to really 6 have any meaningful substantive discussions with the 7 government?

8 MR. STRAZZULLO: Yes, that's true, your Honor.

9 But I do have in my hand a plea agreement from 10 November 16, 2012 with the government, with Mr. Goldman, the 11 prior AUSA on the case, in regards to the 57 to 71 months 12 sentencing range. Thank you.

13 THE COURT: Does the government wish to be heard?

14 MR. BLAIS: Yes. Just very briefly, your Honor.

15 As was noted in Mr. Strazzullo's original letter to 16 the Court, we did consent to the proposed bail package. We 17 obviously still, given it hasn't changed, we still consent.

18 Obviously, a bail determination is a fairly 19 impressionistic matter and it's a multifactor test. So no one 20 thing can necessarily determine whether bail is appropriate in 21 a particular circumstance.

22 In this particular matter, obviously weighing very 23 strongly on one side is the long period of absence of this 24 particular defendant. Counterbalanced against that is the 25 defendant's community ties, as evidenced by his family being

E449GELC

1 present in the area, as well as the fact that he did ultimately 2 voluntarily surrender; he was not extradited or arrested
3 outside of the United States. And then third is what we view, 4 our evaluation of the strength of the particular bail package.

5 I can say to your Honor that the package that was 6 ultimately presented was not the original one that was 7 presented to us. We believe that the original package needed 8 to be strengthened, that additional properties needed to be put 9 up, and ultimately the package that has been presented to your 10 Honor is one that is the product of negotiation. But we 11 believe because it, one, involves two unencumbered properties 12 worth together approximately $750,000, properties that are 13 owned by -- at least one of the properties owned by a member of 14 this particular defendant's family, I believe it's -- one of 15 the properties is his aunt's property; that in combination with 16 the fact that several of his family members, including his 17 mother would be signatories on the bond, the two million dollar 18 bond, that there would be significant financial pain that would 19 be suffered by individuals fairly close to this defendant if he 20 were to flee. So that, in combination, those factors in 21 combination, was sufficient for us, after discussion within the 22 office, to determine that it was a sufficient bail package to 23 basically enable the defendant or to ensure the defendant's 24 return to court.

25 We obviously understand your Honor's initial

E449GELC

1 evaluation of the proposal. We stand by our recommendation 2 after our evaluation of the various factors. But that's 3 certainly what went into our evaluation of the package as a 4 whole and our getting to a level of comfort that it was a 5 sufficient package to ensure the defendant's return.

6 Thank you.

7 THE COURT: My concern has to do with flight here and 8 not danger to the community. So, the issue is whether I am 9 persuaded by a preponderance of the evidence before me with 10 respect to these issues. And the government referred to the 11 fact that I have to weigh a number of factors. They are set 12 out in a statute, Section 3142(g). The nature and 13 circumstances of the crime charged is the first factor. This 14 is a serious enough fraud, enough money was involved, over a 15 lengthy period of time, that I think it would be considered a 16 serious financial fraud.

17 The second factor is the weight of the evidence 18 against the defendant. Two ways to look at that. It's 19 circumstantial evidence in the sense that -- I shouldn't say 20 that. There may very well be direct evidence through the 21 cooperators' testimony and through the victims' testimony, but 22 there isn't physical proof of the kind we see in some cases of 23 tape recordings or seized items that can't really be 24 cross-examined effectively. So if there were a trial here, 25 there would be the opportunity for cross-examination and

E449GELC

1 argument that there might not be in some cases. On the other 2 hand, every codefendant in evaluating the strength of the 3 evidence against them decided to enter a plea of guilty and so 4 I think that is some kind of assessment about the strength of 5 the proof here. No one went to trial.

6 So I'd say while a mixed picture, the first two 7 factors weigh against this bail application.

8 The third factor is the history and characteristics of 9 the defendant, including family ties and community ties and 10 past conduct. This is a mixed picture. The defendant has 11 strong ties to individuals living here but they weren't strong 12 enough to bring him back. He made a judgment since April of 13 '09 to stay outside this country. There is a strong or a 14 serious bail package being presented here by people who 15 obviously care about the defendant and are committed to him.
16 So it's a mixed picture in this regard, but I'd say this third 17 factor weighs in the defendant's favor.

18 The fourth factor is the nature and seriousness of the 19 danger to the community or to an individual. I'd say this 20 factor also weighs in the defendant's favor. I don't think, at 21 least for the short amount of time the -- between now and the 22 time of trial that there is a real risk of danger to the 23 community.

24 The range of sentences given and the description 25 before me of the negotiations over the -- what may be a

E449GELC

1 stipulated guidelines range suggests that the defendant has to 2 be looking at serious jail time; years in jail if convicted, 3 either through a plea or at trial. And, of course, that kind 4 of likelihood presents a serious motive of flight and kept him
5 abroad for all of those years. It was sufficiently strong 6 enough to keep him abroad despite what he now says are these 7 strong ties to people here in New York.

8 So, Mr. Strazzullo, with respect to these two 9 properties.

10 MR. STRAZZULLO: Yes.

11 THE COURT: What are the owners prepared to do or what 12 have they done to turn them over to the government?

13 MR. STRAZZULLO: Confession of judgments, your Honor, 14 on both properties which would be filed in Kings County in 15 Brooklyn and then of course --

16 THE COURT: As liens against the property?

17 MR. STRAZZULLO: Yes, your Honor. One in four hundred 18 thousand. The other one in three hundred thousand plus. The 19 exact value, the confession of judgments would be signed in my 20 office later today or Monday, in regards to their encumbrance 21 on both properties, your Honor.

22 THE COURT: So practically speaking -- I mean the 23 defendant has an absolute right to go to trial to defend 24 against these charges. A jury would decide whether or not the 25 government carried its burden of proof at trial. But just

E449GELC

1 making an assessment based on what happened with the 2 codefendants, and that's all I have to go on -- I haven't seen 3 any document, I haven't talked to a witness -- I have no other 4 basis for a judgment other than what counsel are sharing with 5 me, and that record of codefendants. What we're talking about 6 is being out of prison for a few months.

7 MR. STRAZZULLO: Yes, your Honor.

8 THE COURT: That's what we're talking about.

9 MR. STRAZZULLO: And just to make it clear, your 10 Honor. That we are very close to coming to an agreement 11 regarding a plea that is currently on the table for Mr. Gelman.

12 THE COURT: Well, even if you weren't, I mean we have 13 a trial date of May 27. So our -- he would know even if he 14 didn't want to enter a plea, he would know soon whether or not 15 a jury would render a verdict against him.

16 MR. STRAZZULLO: Yes, your Honor.

17 THE COURT: We're talking about a small window of time
18 here to make a decision; either he makes a decision or a jury 19 makes a decision one way or the other.

20 MR. STRAZZULLO: Yes, your Honor.

21 In regards to his defense, also having him out on 22 bail, your Honor, would -- with the short amount of time, if we 23 do go to trial, would be a positive thing for his defense in 24 regards to the voluminous amount of discovery, the 25 accommodations over at MDC are not the greatest in regards to

E449GELC

1 physical evidence, bringing it in, making sure that he receives 2 it with the inmate mail. So having him out would help him have 3 a better presentation at trial with the short amount of time if 4 Mr. Gelman does decide that he wants to go to trial.

5 THE COURT: Mr. Blais, are you confident you can seize 6 these two properties immediately if the defendant flees?

7 MR. BLAIS: Yes, your Honor.

8 The process that Mr. Strazzullo described is the 9 typical process that takes place when there's property that is 10 pledged in support of a bail package. There's a confession of 11 judgment that is filed in the respective county register of 12 deeds -- or I'm not sure the appropriate title office. And 13 then when, to the extent that there is flight, that lien -- 14 that confession basically says that the property is the 15 property of the U.S. Government. So it is something that we 16 would move on and can move on very quickly if necessary.

17 THE COURT: And you've been satisfied with the title 18 search?

19 MR. BLAIS: Yes, your Honor.

20 THE COURT: There's been a title search here?

21 MR. STRAZZULLO: Yes, your Honor.

22 MR. BLAIS: At least as represented to me by 23 Mr. Strazzullo, yes, there has been.

24 THE COURT: You haven't seen the title search itself?

25 MR. BLAIS: We have not yet, simply a representation

E449GELC

1 from defense counsel.

2 THE COURT: Do you have the title search,
3 Mr. Strazzullo?

4 MR. STRAZZULLO: I do, your Honor.

5 THE COURT: Do you have any objection --

6 MR. STRAZZULLO: Not on my physically. But in my 7 office regarding the two properties. I've discovered that both 8 are unencumbered.

9 In addition to that, your Honor, the release pending 10 trial, speaking to Mr. Blais, would probably take about five, 11 six days, probably a week, over a week because the other 12 guarantors need to be interviewed; and also, the two people 13 that are putting up the properties need to be interviewed. And 14 the confession of judgment, which they would come to my office
15 today or Monday to sign, is basically an automatic default 16 against the two properties. So there wouldn't be any way to 17 reverse that automatic default. It's basically a judgment.
18 And it's confessed to by the two individuals that are putting 19 up the property. The only way to reverse that is for me to 20 start a court process anew from the beginning with a summons 21 and complaint against the government stating that it was 22 fraudulent, that they didn't really sign, it wasn't notarized 23 and things of that nature.

24 So the two confession of judgments, the second they 25 are signed in my office either today or Monday, are automatic

E449GELC

1 executed judgments against the property on the condition that 2 eventually when the case is over and your Honor orders release 3 or the sentence, then the two properties, once he's detained, 4 the confession of judgments are basically terminated.

5 THE COURT: Well there has to be a title search to 6 make sure that the properties are owned free and clear. And 7 the confessions of judgment have to be filed.

8 MR. STRAZZULLO: Yes, your Honor, to be effective.

9 Of course both items I do speak about will be done 10 before Mr. Gelman is released. Those are the conditions that 11 Mr. Blais and I have discussed.

12 MR. BLAIS: Your Honor, to the extent that your Honor 13 were to grant bail we would of course ask that it be done such 14 that the defendant is not released until all conditions are met 15 so that would be -- involve, as Mr. Strazzullo described, an 16 interview by our office of each of the guarantors and approval 17 of them by our office before they're allowed to put their 18 signatures on the bond. That's first.

19 Second would be our satisfaction that the titles to 20 the homes are properly in the names of the individuals who 21 would be signing the bond and that the confessions of judgment 22 have been properly filed.

23 And then third, to the extent that electronic 24 monitoring were part of the release, and we certainly -- that's 25 certainly part of the agreed-upon package, and we would of

E449GELC

1 course ask that it be part of any package, there is a necessary 2 investigation by pretrial services of the location where the 3 defendant is to reside to ensure that there is appropriate 4 landline phones and to install the system. And that all has to 5 happen, and pretrial has to indicate to the government that 6 that has happened, before we would order the defendant out for 7 release.

8 So all of those conditions would have to be met to the 9 satisfaction of the government in the manner that I've 10 described before the defendant would be ordered for release.

11 MR. STRAZZULLO: Also, your Honor, if I may.

12 His passport has already been voluntarily -- he had 13 paperwork, not a passport -- was already given to the FBI 14 agents that picked him up at the airport on the date of his 15 arrival. So all of those documents are in the possession of 16 the government. Of course, the government can confirm them 17 with the FBI agents that had him surrender at JFK.

18 MR. BLAIS: I can confirm that for your Honor.
19 Pretrial services was in possession of his passport. At the 20 time of the arraignment before your Honor, it is their policy 21 when the defendant is detained to release the passport to the 22 agency, which was done in my presence. To the extent he is 23 actually ordered released on bail, the passport would be 24 transferred from the custody of the FBI where it presently 25 resides to the custody of pretrial services, as is standard

1 when a defendant is released on bail.

2 THE COURT: Assuming all of that is done I will grant 3 bail. I want to make sure the government has a copy of the 4 title searches, that title is clear on both properties, and 5 that the confession of judgments are filed as liens against 6 both properties as well as everything else you've described to 7 me.

8 Thank you, counsel.

9 MR. BLAIS: Thank you, your Honor.
